

A photograph of a man in a red shirt and a woman in a white dress posing in front of a large framed mirror. The man is standing and looking at the camera, while the woman is sitting on a table, looking away from the camera.

A Day at the Museum

a wordless comedy set to an original orchestral score by Brian Wilbur Grundstrom

with
Loren Bray
Jonathan A. Douglas
Susan Holliday
Doug Krentzlin
Jacqueline Nicole Malambri
Kathleen Mason
John Milosich
Pamela Nash
Ryan Sellers

Music by Brian Wilbur Grundstrom
Written by Robert Barnett
Directed by Perry Schwartz Choreography by John Milosich

nudity, comedy, and art. . . set to music

Sunday, July 10 @ 6:30pm
Friday, July 15 @ 10pm
Saturday, July 16 @ 7pm
Wednesday, July 20 @ 10:15pm
Saturday, July 23 @ 2:15pm

Warehouse Theater
645 New York Avenue NW @ 7th Street
Washington, DC

Washington DC Premiere
World Premiere was at 2008 New York International Fringe Festival

$17 Tickets available at www.capfringe.org
Requires $7 Festival Button

Listen to excerpt at www.brianwilbur.com

Presented as a part of the 2011 Capital Fringe Festival, a program of the Washington, DC non-profit Capital Fringe.

photo credit and graphic design: grimwhimsy.com

JULY 7 TO 24, 2011
CAPITAL FRINGE FESTIVAL
festival of the performing arts in washington, dc